

The Gourgaud Gallery Celebrates National Poetry Month With an “Open Mic” Poetry Reading in the Gourgaud Gallery

April is celebrated in the United States as National Poetry Month. Throughout the country Poetry Readings abound as the Nation celebrates the American Poetry tradition. This year once again, Cranbury is no exception as the Gourgaud Gallery Group sponsors the Fourth Annual “OPEN MIC” POETRY READING on Friday, April 13th at 7:30 PM in the Gourgaud Gallery in Cranbury’s Town Hall.

Poets, 17 years of age and older are invited to read their own poetry. It does not matter the style and form—formal or free verse and any combination are welcome. If you don’t happen to write poetry but love poetry just the same, you are invited to read your favorite poems or just serve as an appreciative audience. Take a break from doing taxes and indulge your senses and soothe your mind with the rhythms and music of poetry in the Gourgaud Gallery.

Light refreshments will be served after the reading.

You will have time to view the latest exhibition in the Gourgaud Gallery too.

For further information, please call the Cranbury Public Library 609-655-0555 during library hours after April 2nd and ask for Howard Zogott.